RHDG called upon to build van Veen Construction

January 2008

Van Veen Construction has chosen Riezebos Holzbaur Design Group (RHDG) to develop the company's website. RHDG will provide the design, copywriting, programming and maintenance of the site.

Van Veen Construction designs and builds high-end homes and businesses throughout California. Their style draws from refined old-world European influences, but encompasses hints of contemporary flair. For this new website, they turned to an agency with experience building on sites of a different kind. RHDG will call on their in-house creative team to match van Veen's style through design, writing, and programming on the site. The result can be found at www.bertovanveen.com.
