RHDG to produce newsletter for environmental innovators GreenWaste

October 2009

In our ongoing role in support of California's burgeoning green industries, RHDG has proudly partnered with GreenWaste of Palo Alto. RHDG will produce a quarterly newsletter to inform commercial and residential customers about the great strides GreenWaste has made in environmentally responsible waste management.

When it comes to environmental responsibility, there's a lot of talk out there. GreenWaste is all about action. They've been at the forefront of environmentally sound waste management practices since 1991. This innovative company specializes in the collection and processing of residential and commercial trash, yard trimmings, curbside recyclables, food waste, and other debris serving 22 million residents from Santa Cruz to Petaluma.

GreenWaste's sorting facility is a study in efficiency. Currently, it is capable of diverting up to 85% of household waste from landfills and into production for new, usable products. They hope to increase this already massive amount of material by the remaining 15%. The goal for Palo Alto – zero waste by 2021.

We're all concerned about the environment, and GreenWaste has turned that concern into action. We at RHDG are proud to share their progress with you. Because the more they succeed, the more we all do.
